CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The Marquess of Lothian said in a speech last night that in the British view "everything today points to the probability Germany will attempt early this Spring to gain a decision against England and France by a terrific attack by land, air and sea in which she will use every weapon in her armory."

Goering Now Absolute As Eat Dictator

By RALPH HEINZEN
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.
BERLIN, Jan. 5.—Hermann Goering, Adolf Hitler's official heir, today became an absolute dictator, with final authority to say what Germans eat, wear, save and produce.

His appointment as head of the new Nazi council for war-time economy contradicted rumors abroad he was in disgrace, and at the same time gave him his fourth big executive job.

- His other offices are:
- 1—Head of the four-year plan.
 - 2—Head of the ministerial council for Reich defense.
 - 3—Air minister and commander-in-chief.

In addition he is prime minister of Prussia, president of the Reichstag, and in charge of forestry and hunting, and lastly, Hitler has designated him as "Fuehrer" in case anything happens to me.

ANGLO WARSHIPS HUNT ANOTHER GERMAN RAIDER

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 5.—Concentration of four British cruisers off Montevideo caused speculation among mariners authorities today on whether a hunt was on for another German raider like the scuttled pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee.

After the cruiser Ajax put out to sea from the harbor this morning, a port observer sighted two other warships, identified as the Cumberland and Gloucester, about two hours sailing off shore. The cruiser Achilles left Buenos Aires early this morning, apparently to join the squadron. The Achilles and Ajax, together with the cruiser Exeter, were responsible for the defeat of the Graf Spee.

Manion Predicts Federal Spring Vote

CRITICISM that Canada's war effort as so far disclosed was ineffectual with the real desire of the Canadian people, and a demand for a more vigorous, energetic and wholehearted war policy was voiced in resolution passed unanimously by delegates of the Alberta National Conservative Party executive held Thursday at Red Deer.

It was charged that four months after Canada's entry into the war Canadian troops were insufficiently armed, clothed and shod, and that Canadian labor and industry were still largely unemployed in the manufacture of necessary equipment, notwithstanding the creation of a multiplicity of boards and commissions alleged to have control of the situation.

HARDY NORTH MEN MAY AID FINNS IN WAR

Sourdoys and Trappers
May Form Division To Fight Russians

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—The Gazette says today that according to reliable sources, "sourdoy, broad shouldered prospectors, staid trappers and other Indians" may be organized into a division to fight the Finns in the Arctic region.

"The men have been trained in the army at bay to a country similar to their own Northwest Territories, the Yukon and the Hudson Bay region."

"The organizers of the plan believe that lumberjacks and 'voyagers' of the north as well as many Finns who have been in the north for years would accept with alacrity an invitation to join an expedition to throw back the Russian border," the newspaper says.

"It has even been suggested that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, which has already dispatched a patrol company to the north, might supply a number of men with experience in the Arctic and its environs."

an acute diplomatic problem. German newspapers have been busy with editorial attacks against British and French aid to Finland. There were intimations in Berlin that governments were being made aware by Germany's attitude.

NEW PROBLEMS

Aguste Chamberlain, de Ribentrop, French under secretary for foreign affairs, and Elmar Hennrich, Swedish minister, discussed at Paris yesterday the new problems of the Scandinavian countries and especially, a British United Press dispatch said, German pressure aimed at inducing the Scandinavians to reduce passage of materials for Finland.

Possibly connected with the situation were reports, not verified, that Viscount Malvern, Russian minister and foreign secretary, might soon visit Berlin.

It was known also that Adolf Hitler had been conferring at his Bavarian mountain retreat with military leaders for several days, and making important decisions.

FLOW OF VOLUNTEERS

A part of the situation also was the steady flow of Scandinavian volunteers, apparently most of them trained men, to the widespread reports of Finnish military bombing operations. Reports from various points outside Finland said that Finnish planes bombarded the Murmansk-Leningrad railroad, the Murmansk-Leningrad coast, the Finnish Arctic coast, and the Russian Arctic coast. The Russian Arctic coast was bombed by the British, the Murmansk-Leningrad coast by the British, the Finnish Arctic coast by the British, the Russian Arctic coast by the British.

Germany took the view, on the basis of propaganda, that the Allies, by sending Finland, were doing nothing to establish in the far north parts from which they might attack Germany.

Germany would not tolerate the establishment of such bases.

Japan-Dominated Government For China Declined

TOKYO, Japan, Jan. 5.—The Japanese war office announced today that it had declined to accept a Japanese-dominated government for China.

Shanghai sources reported that a regime would be established soon after the Chinese premier Wang Ching-wei, probably about Jan. 15. Wang's regime would purport to represent the real Chinese government, but it would be dominated by the Japanese.

By GILLIS PURCELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALDERSHOT, Jan. 5.—Billed in a dozen barracks dotted over the expansive Aldershot command, Canada's overseas force is clearing its decks for the intensive training which precedes the division's transfer to France. Leaves which have held up drills and demonstrations will be virtually complete by the week-end.

Approximately 300 Canadians are away on leave, mostly from the second contingent which arrived last week-end. It had been expected that the division would be in training the middle of this week, but the divisional command decided it was preferable to clean up the decks of the second contingent, clear the decks for action. There will be a few stragglers here next week, but none after Jan. 15.

Regular drills are progressing at various parade grounds, with special attention to anti-air warfare. The second contingent, which arrived last week-end, has been in training for an extended period, after which collective training is planned.

that vital railroad supply line to the Arctic that the civil population of Murmansk is threatened with a serious food shortage.

It was reported that reindeer herders and other men injured to the bitter cold of the far north have now joined the ski patrol. It was understood that small units of Finnish troops, some 15 and 20 men each, camping in the snow at night and using on driven sleds, were now being reported to be engaged in Russian frontiers.

The country along the frontier, however, is still little better than a desert. For instance there are no big game, and the reindeer herders, but both the patrol and the bombing planes must seriously hamper the heavy and vital Russian traffic on Russia's Leningrad-Murmansk line.

UNITY DOESN'T KNOW WAR IS NOW GOING ON

English Girl Friend Of Hitler Comes Back To Father's Home

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Emily Valkyrie, the German-born, friend of Adolf Hitler, came home to a quiet country village last night without knowing there is a war between her homeland and the Father's Germany.

While apple-cheeked wives of tenant farmers greeted the war, this Emily with "no lovely to you back," Lord Redefade admitted, "my daughter, poor child, does not even know that England is at war."

Tired and haggard, Lord Redefade winced as an idler at the village of High Wycombe, home of the Redefades, shouldered a "Heil Hitler" as the ambulance sped by.

The village, 20 miles from London, was plastered with newspaper placards announcing the strange return of the sick girl from Germany. She could see them from the ambulance windows.

"My daughter has stood the journey very well, but she still is very ill," Lord Redefade said. "She is unable to see anyone and must have perfect quiet."

The 23-year-old Englishwoman, whom Hitler once described as a "Nordic beauty," had been on the trip to her home, travelling by ambulance from the channel port of Folkestone.

Lady Redefade, who met her daughter in Switzerland, said: "I tried to say she is very much better today."

U.S. INSISTING LAUGHTON PAY INCOME TAXES

Government Asks Court to Review Decision of Tax
Board

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Charles Laughton, the British actor, has a financial "stunt," but the United States government doesn't think that either. It is withholding $104,430 claimed income tax.

The government petitioned the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday to review a decision of the Board of Tax Affairs which refused Laughton from payment of tax on his income from the films "Rogue of Wimpole Street" and "Marie Antoinette," made in 1934 and 1935.

Laughton claimed exemption because he signed those earnings over to a British corporation, entitled Motion Picture and Theatrical Industries, Ltd., of which Laughton is the sole stockholder.

Guy T. Helvering, collector of internal revenue, said that, despite the name, the corporation was just Charles Laughton.

The Board of Tax Appeals upheld Laughton's contention the corporation was a separate entity.

Parley Discusses Education Plans For Canuck Troops

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—University and other educational officials held an all-day meeting here yesterday to consider ways and means of assisting recruits to the army, navy and air force who require further or better education.

The representatives decided to recommend to universities that they establish classes to assist education and also in honor matriculation in their own institutions and elsewhere in military districts in which they were situated.

The government petitioned the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday to review a decision of the Board of Tax Affairs which refused Laughton from payment of tax on his income from the films "Rogue of Wimpole Street" and "Marie Antoinette," made in 1934 and 1935.

EIRE NOW SET FOR ROUND-UP OF TERRORISTS

Senate Approves Measure
Giving Authority To Jail Suspects

DUBLIN, Jan. 5.—The Irish parliament completed action last night on an emergency powers bill giving the government authority to intern without trial members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

As police pressed a mass round-up of extremists charged with being dangerous to the state, the senate approved the bill, which gave the government emergency powers previously approved by the Dail Eireann (lower house) Wednesday.

At the same time the Dail passed a measure for dealing with "Offences against the state," which will go to the Senate (Senate) next. The Dail then resumed until Jan. 21.

More than 20 arrests were made at Cork, where Thomas MacCarthy, 22, wealthy son of a former lord mayor, was arrested in District court on a charge of killing Captain John Roche Wednesday night. MacCarthy's father was killed in the Sinn Féin disorders 20 years ago.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 5.—A grizzled 48-year-old dynamiter, saying he was drunk as charged told Judge John Draper he had eaten five of explosive to stop a headache. FREQUENCIES OF STATIONS TO BE MOVED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The Federal Communications Commission has tentatively assigned new frequencies to between 800 and 900 radio stations in the United States and Canada.

The new frequencies will become effective at a date to be set by the commission before Dec. 31, 1940. Many interference problems which have developed between stations in the North American countries will be eliminated by the allocation provided in the treaty, the F.C.C. said.

A White Flag Appeal

Calgary's Mayor hoisted a white flag Tuesday afternoon as a symbol that nobody had been killed on the streets of the city during the first day, or two days, of the new year. The flag will be kept flying so long as no street fatalities occur. If it is pulled down, that will be a formal official declaration that a civic ideal has been shattered.

The hope seems to be that persons using the streets this year will be more careful because they want to keep the because of regard for their own lives and those of others. The idea is rather fanciful, but that only shows how signally more logical methods have failed to make streets safe in Calgary as elsewhere.

Fanciful or not, if the scheme works in one city it will be adopted by others, and a white flag for hoisting at New Year's may become a part of standard civic equipment. If the way to make streets safe is to appeal to the civic loyalty of drivers and walkers by displaying an emblem of the city's concern in the matter, a white flag at every corner would be a cheap means to the end.

A Policy of Awareness

President Roosevelt suggested to Congress that the United States should conduct a policy of "new deal" measures, tariff-reducing reciprocal agreements with more foreign countries, and the cultivation of national unity.

It is significant that the President approached the discussion of national affairs through a study of the international situation. He hoped that his country can stay out of war, rather than confident that it can do so, he departed altogether from the tradition of aloofness and recognized the position of the United States as one country among many—therefore subject to the impact of war conditions and prospectively affected by the ideas which are to dominate the world abroad.

There is nothing in either the aims or the measures suggested to arouse anything but sympathetic interest in Canada and the other Allied countries. Strengthening the national defenses of the United States will add to the sum total of the ultimate defenses of democracy everywhere. In the outworking of plans there to combat unemployment and promote general welfare Canada and other self-governing countries may learn how to grapple with these problems on their own account. Freer trade among nations will reinforce the bonds of international friendship. The development of national unity south of the border must react to a similar development north of it.

While the United States is at peace and may be able to remain so, the address shows again that the President senses clearly what, basically, is the issue that is being fought out on three fronts today; and knows that his country is far from being a disinterested spectator of the course of events.

Looking Ahead

Prime Minister King says negotiations have been resumed with Washington looking to the making of an agreement for the construction of the St. Lawrence waterway; though it may be matters will not be far enough advanced to enable parliament to deal with the necessary legislation at the coming session.

The prospect that some time will be required to hammer out the details of the bargain is not surprising. An international agreement of such magnitude is not to be framed lightly or hurriedly. There are divergent viewpoints to be canvassed, conflicting interests to be taken into account, future contingencies to be provided for, clauses so worded that there will be no misunderstandings later on, and the whole undertaking drawn with a view to the mutual satisfaction of the two countries not only now but in the years to come.

If legislative action cannot be taken at the coming session of parliament, construction cannot begin before the spring of 1941 at the earliest and is more likely to be delayed until 1942. If the enterprise is desirable at all, it is obviously wise to get the preliminaries under way without further loss of time. To postpone this action would probably deprive Canada of the benefit of the employment that will be afforded by construction in the period immediately following the close of the war, when employment will be particularly urgent.

There is the added consideration that it takes two to make a bargain. The Government at Washington is ready to bargain now. No one knows whether the government there two or five years from now will be of the same mind on the subject, or will be able to get the approval of the Senate and House. If Canada wants the waterway, the time to negotiate the agreement is when the other party is known to be willing to talk business.

It is sound argument that construction enterprises should be "laid over" until the peace of the war when they can be done without serious disadvantage, because the employment offered will be needed then more than it is now. But this particular enterprise is one which Canada cannot "lay over" without a possibility that it could not be taken up later when we wanted to deal with it. And in any case the bulk of the construction will fall in what there is good reason to suppose will be post-war days.

To do the negotiating now is to take a necessary step toward meeting the after-war conditions of unemployment, which the Government has urged to be met chiefly from opposition quarters—to prepare for.

Editorial Notes

Canada is to be represented hereafter by high commissioners in Eire and New Zealand. Hitherto our commercial interests in those countries have been looked after by trade agents. The inference, both plain and gratifying, is that these interests are growing and greater efforts are to be made to expand them.

Herr Hitler's ambassador at Buenos Ayres cast a verbal spear on the charmed ruins of the Graf Spee by calling it a "glorious battleship." In cold fact the "glorious" battleship was a merchant ship, and that with weaker adversaries, ran for the nearest port the moment firing began, and emerged only to be blown up by order of the Fuehrer. Its commander expressed his opinion of the ship or the Fuehrer by committing suicide.

The Associated Press sends from Berlin extracts from an order issued by Herr Himmler, with the endorsement of Herr Hess, urging Nazi soldiers and police to "beget children, in or out of wedlock." Disgraceful to our ears, and prospectively affected by the ideas which are to dominate the world abroad.

The Passing Show

Among the pre-Christmas deaths was that of Mrs. Rudolph Kipling, a woman who has been known to the public since she was born on Dec. 30 and she on Dec. 31. She was in her 74th year at the time of her death. After reading Kipling's story "The Vampire," and Mrs. Kipling's other references to the other sex as "the vampire," it is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke," the impression grows that Kipling had developed a contemptuous attitude for women before he met and married Caroline Balestier.

The venom is a protective agent in such lines as:

"A foot there was and he made his prayer
(Even as you and I)
To a rag and a bone and a bank of hair
Alas, the trouble with the foot's 'lady fair' was that she 'couldn't' understand."

If Kipling was writing from experience of youth, he bettered some wiser men. Carl Sandburg has just published the last four volumes of his monumental work on Abraham Lincoln. The books are entitled "The War Years." But the war for Lincoln that never ended was the war in his own home.

For REAL TRAGEDY twenty-three years he reaped OF LINCOLN what he sowed. His last partner Herndon says, "His rough-hewn features that have come to command a world's reverence, his eyes, his ears, were never even his first lady of the land, could she desert from nagging and scolding."

As the Lancashire folk say, "There's nowt as queer as folk." Sandburg calls that General "Stone-wall" Jackson's reverence for the Sabbath was so great that he would neither mail a letter to his wife on a Sabbath or open one received from her. Yet he was "with the blessing of an ever-kind Providence" he would "fight, slay and deliver down to the enemy, if on the march the enemy looked ready for punishment."

The Public Book of the State of New York holds an essay competition each year, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. This year, the prize for the best essay was won by a "Lovers of German Village" youth, Bronk Hirschberg, who has been on this continent only since last March. His subject was "Why I Should be Loyal to the United States." Erich in his short life has had experience of life in two dictator countries, with the freedom of life on this continent. He was able, from experience, to contrast the restrictions on freedom in the two dictator countries, with the freedom of life on this continent. His closing sentence was "He who has once lived in servitude knows that only liberty makes life livable." Over 400,000 pupils competed in the contest for 218 prizes.

Even on this continent freedom is not all it is cracked up to be. The same paper which announced Erich's success reports that Hirschberg is a motion picture reviewer for The Daily Worker, a Communist organ, is out of a job because he was unable to give a review of a picture under instruction to "blatant" his review of the film "Gone With the Wind." Mr. Ruchmore trifled with his artistic conscience enough to call the picture a "magnificent work" and lauded the technical achievements and "thematic sweep" with condemnation of the depictions of a religious, feudal, religious and historical sequence. But that wasn't enough. The board wanted "100 per cent condemnation" on which to base a movement to boycott the film. Ruchmore was invited to give his review instead.

Most of the foregoing has been about American personages and things, as I may as well finish on a topic previously mooted, which concerns me personally not at all—namely the price of Christmas liquor before the war. In major department stores in New York before Christmas the following prices for standard Scotch whiskies were quoted: "Old Angus" $29.99; Dewar's "White Label," "Black and White" and Haig and Haig's "Five Star" brands at $24.99; Haig and Haig's "Pinch-Bottle" brand sold at $19.99.

The chairman of the Metropolitan Council of Liquor Package Store Associations attributes the low prices for standard brands to private competition. Remember that next time you're asked to vote for a government monopoly in this or any other commodity.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. KELLS

THE MISSIONARY'S LEGACY
My old friend, a missionary from Kurdistan, with whom I had fellowship amidst war and hardship, has retired, because of ill health, he showed me a manuscript which he had written, primarily as a legacy for his grandchildren.

Nobody is better than he to tell the tale of adventure. He had led a life of excitement and danger. One day he rode an avalanche down a mountain side. He knows more dispiriting characters, and has figured in more interesting making events, than any other man I know.

Did his literary bequest deal with these things? Not at all. It was his personal confession of faith, his testimony to the Bible.

We set to provide for the care of our children and children's children; but how often we forget to leave them the legacy of a shining faith. Forgive us, our Father, and deliver us from folly. Amen.

Nothing Done

Where is a more utterly wretched life than that of Henry Scriven—a man who has spent 44 of his 78 years behind the grey walls of the South Carolina penitentiary?

The humblest of free men can look back at things accomplished, even if it is only doing a day or two of hard work. No matter how ill the world has rewarded them, such men can look upon the face of the earth and say "Here are the marks of the labor of my hands." That is something. Many believe it is everything. But the Scrivens, thousands of them, have cheated themselves of the soundest satisfaction life offers. Therein lies their tragedy.—Victor Times.

Right and Justice

The doctrines advanced by Hitler and Stalin are the negation of all that Christianity has taught through the centuries, and if they are allowed to prevail there will be no safety or security for any nation that is founded on the principles of truth and justice. If, as Shakespeare says, "three angels in the air" with his quarrel just," the Allies should be invincible.

They have the sympathy of the entire world, with the exception of the totalitarian nations. This moves them to do more and more munitions wherever they can be procured. After all it is remarkable, in spite of the boasts of the totalitarian nations, how man-made munitions are, how man-made response to the appeal of right and justice.—Brentford Expositor.

Railways Earn More

The year ends with the Canadian railways on the up-grade financially. The Canadian National will have net earnings of nearly $20,000,000, as compared with a net loss of $10,000,000 in 1939. The Canadian Pacific have been increased by millions.

The better showing is due to the large western crop and the timely movement of grain, together with the effect of the war in stimulating the mining industry and general business.

The railways will do still better next year if the war continues. What the Canadian people earn crop may be the effect of the war on general economic activity will be much greater. Export trade will see a large increase, and the greater purchasing power of the Canadian people will lead to a larger demand for goods of all kinds. This will all mean more business for the railways, and the Royal Empire Society yesterday, in the hauling of finished products. Next year's increase in railway earnings is likely to exceed this year's by a wide margin.—Winipeg Free Press.

To Save Civilization Itself

It takes a man possessed of the keen analytical ability of the Hon. R. B. Bennett to present such a detailed panorama of Great Britain's war efforts as the former Premier of this Dominion does in his address to the Dominion League in a speech that was stamped by intense fervor and a passionate sincerity. Mr. Bennett told his audience, firstly, what we are fighting for, and secondly, what Britain is doing to win, and thirdly, what Canada can do to help on the civilian side, particularly in the realm of finance. True, much of what he said he had already found in the public mind, but he brought it out with the succinct and graphic summary, the quiet pulsing of fact upon fact, and the cumulative power of the whole drama, the picture he presented a peculiar impressiveness. It seized the imagination and it left behind a sense of a new comprehension of the war, and the true significance of the ideals for which the Allies are waging this war.

The former Premier emphasized the urgent necessity of upholding the integrity of Christian civilization. That, he pointed out, is what we are fighting for—not for any one or more national or racial or religious groups, but for the civilization itself. He pointed out that the world could have the continued freedom of nations and the enjoyment of liberty, if Hitler succeeded in his anti-Christianity. If Hitler succeeded in his anti-Christianity, the concept of Christian civilization would disappear. He defended vigorously Mr. Chamberlain's policy of appeasement, and he pointed out that he assured his audience that there is no man living who is more determined to see the end of this Great Britain, who will accept no peace that does not ensure certainty with respect to the ends and aims for which he is struggling. The tumultuous applause that greeted this assurance was a significant indication of the impression it made upon the audience.—Montreal Star.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

This is the story of a Conservative convention which never took place. In October, 1909, Mr. R. B. Borden announced in a speech in Winnipeg that he intended to call a national Conservative convention for the spring of the following year. In accordance with the policy, he on Jan. 5, 1910 (30 years ago today), announced the postponement of a preliminary meeting at Ottawa and decided that the convention should be held. George H. Peirce (later Sir George) was chosen as chairman, with A. B. Bennett as secretary. The preliminary meeting (later clerk of the Senate) as secretary of the organization. After discussion the date was fixed for June 15, 1910, and arrangements were made with that date in view.

But the convention was wrecked upon the party split on the Royal Navy. The convention was never held, but Borden, a little over a year later, became prime minister without having had a party convention during his leadership. He was forced to resign to follow any program set by a party convention. The decade which followed his accession to office, with its burden of war and diplomacy, enabled him to make evident his firmness of decision, which, to many, seemed lacking before 1911. No party convention could have improved his fighting position in 1910; it might well have wrecked it.

This is the ninth of a series of 12 hands played by the new national champions at the tournament at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mrs. M. A. Sobel of New York, 1933 and 1934 and Helen White of Los Angeles, prior to her marriage to A. M. Sobel of New York, one of the national tournament directors of the American Contract Bridge League.

Mrs. Sobel is one of the three women players and is well on her way to regular life membership. In the Pittsburgh tournament, Mrs. Sobel played as alternate on the winning women's team-of-four.

Mrs. Sobel held the North cards in today's hand. Early opening lead looked like the safest lead. East had Mrs. Sobel won and immediately led a low heart, which was won by the king. This led to a cash of the diamonds, and East saved three hearts, two clubs and the blank king of spades.

Next Mrs. Sobel cashed the ace of spades, hitting out the heart was led, permitting East to cash three tricks, after which he had to lead away from the club king for the loss of the last two tricks. Mrs. Sobel scored four and for a top score.

NORTH MINING PEAK HAS BEEN IN YEAR 1940

Edmonton is the natural point of entry to the riches of the north, and we are anxious to do all in our power to help this northern development proceed.

Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, who was praised both by Mr. Marshall and Mr. Drummond for his co-operation, brought greetings from the provincial government, which also makes a grant to the Chamber.

Directors elected at the meeting were: H. T. Anderson, J. O. Budd, W. J. Dick, R. M. Dingwall, C. E. Garrett, D. J. Jacob, E. T. Love, W. Macdonald, R. C. Marshall, J. McNeil, H. O. Petrucci, H. E. Pearson, J. B. Sharkey, J. Walker, W. Walton, J. H. Wildman.

Dr. D. Macdonald, president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, who represented that body at the meeting, said his organization regarded the Chamber of Mines as a "fraternal organization" and that he hoped relations between the two would always be marked by an amiable cordiality.

SLOGAN, CARRY ON

Mr. Marshall said: "During the last Great War the British sang the slogan 'Carry On,' and it seems to me that should be our slogan at this time. This applies not only to business but to governments, federal, provincial and municipal, and applies to this organization. I was greatly impressed the other day with the statement by Mr. Fred Kemp, the president of the Edmonton Exhibition association, in which he said, 'fraternal of retrenching we should simply go ahead along same and profitable lines.'

MANY JOBS LOST

"Because we did not try to carry on as normally as reasonably possible we threw all kinds of people out of employment. We want to remember that while we are engaged in this military war that we were just gradually emerging from another kind of war which we were gradually winning and that is the war against unemployment."

SOMETHING NEW

When a slight light animation yesterday morning indicated some thing was brewing, your scribe asked what might be done to head off a cold sore.

PRODUCERS IN 1940

"These companies are now in the eve of full installation and very probably will be in production by 1940. Shipments from the Giant Westwork to Trail have almost reached their development stage and test work at the other two mines have been equally encouraging."

GOLD AND RADIUM

Up to date the mining groups have focused their attention upon gold and radium but the war has brought into prominence other minerals which have secured recognition.

WHOLE AREA EXPLORED

The whole area has now been sufficiently explored and geologists indicate the character of the rocks they carry to depth. These conclusions the cabinet's action on disposable resources consider mining investments with these developments will be the transportation of the product and we may look forward to a terrific boom in prospecting and development in 1940.

ING CONTRIBUTOR

"This year Canadian mining has contributed $1,288,102.00 for every day of the year, probably the greatest single factor in our wartime economic structure," said Mr. Drummond.

ING CONTRIBUTOR

"In this field of mineral production the Northwest Territories and Yukon areas to the north of Edmonton although the most recent to be discovered are developing very rapidly and showing remarkable results. The Northwest is now producing about $1,288,102 per day which includes the gold, the radium, the uranium oxide, the silver and the petroleum products from T. Norman.

Reports on North Mining

R. C. MARSHALL

Outbreak of war makes it imperative that policies of retrenchment do not impede sound social progress in Canada. R. C. Marshall, president of the Alberta and North West Chamber of Mines, told the Chamber's annual meeting here Thursday. L. E. Drummond, secretary-manager, said that northern mining fields are now producing $1,288 per day.

Reporter Is Trying to Laugh Off a Cold Sore: He Finds It's Not Easy

By BOB SHAW

It's bad enough to have a cold sore. But when your cold sore festoons your top lip like a bunch of golden garters and stands out before your proboscis like the cowcatcher on the local yard-engine, then just try to laugh it off.

Now some citizens, I suppose, may have cold sores and get away with them, but if you are a reporter and have such an affliction—well, there's nothing to do but just listen to my woes and keep a stiff upper lip. O'wowo!

INTERESTING?

You see, reporters have such an interesting life. Just ask a boy who knows a reporter. They get about so much and meet so MANY interesting people!

But why, oh why can't these interesting and handsome men, their own business? Yes, I know. It certainly is funny-looking. I saw it myself in the mirror when I got up this morning. Ha ha ha!

But when colleagues, conference, campfires, coffee counter waitresses, business acquaintances, correspondents in public offices and the many other people you meet in a day begin to exercise their active nose on one person's cold sore... I tell you it's colossal, preposterous and, what's more, dastardly embarrassing.

SOMETHING NEW

When a slight light animation yesterday morning indicated some thing was brewing, your scribe asked what might be done to head off a cold sore.

"If I think you had better put a little camphor ice on it," a helpful person advised.

MINE BOARD'S WORK PLEASES NORTH COUNCIL

Chamber's Work In Developing Mining Is Appreciated

Appreciation of the work of the Alberta and North West Chamber of Mines in facilitating the development of mining in the north on a sound basis was formally expressed to the Chamber by the North West Council which adjourned its annual meeting in the north-western city of Edmonton, Thursday, at its annual meeting Thursday.

R. A. Gibson, Ottawa, deputy commissioner of the North West, expressed the Council's appreciation in a letter sent to Mr. Drummond, secretary-manager of the Chamber, which highlighted Mr. Drummond's annual report, read:

"At a meeting of the North West Territories Council, held on Friday, the 22nd instant, mention was made of the authentic and timely publicity which emanates from your office and of the co-operation which the North West Territories Administration receives from the Alberta and North West Chamber of Mines. A formal resolution was passed conveying the appreciation of the North West Territories Council of service rendered by the Alberta and North West Chamber of Mines, in connection with the development of the resources of the North West Territories."

"In conveying this message, may I like the opportunity, on the eve of the New Year, of extending to the Chamber and its members of the Alberta and North West Chamber of Mines, our best wishes for a prosperous New Year."

Propose 80,000-Ton Battleships for United States

Here is how the 80,000-ton super-battleship proposed by Representative Melvin J. Mass (Rep., Minn.) would encompass one of the U.S. navy's largest modern battleships, the 32,300-ton Colorado. Representative Mass has suggested the U.S. forget "small" war vessels of the Colorado's size and build enough of the giant-battleships to make both American and Japanese navies invulnerable.

Next Game Sunday at Arena, Edmonton, A.C. vs. Canadian Crusaders

RIVALRY between Maple Leafs and Edmonton Athletic Club took on an even keener edge as the squads sped through the frosty minutes of hockey at the arena last night to a 3-3 deadlock. The tie enabled Leafs to maintain their four-point margin of leadership and extended their unbeaten streak in league games to six.

Despite the cold which made even the bravest of the few brave ones who attended the game shiver, the joust had its hot moments. Leaf supporters enjoyed the first thrill in the opening 20 minutes as Leafs took a goal lead. Their hopes were somewhat cooled near the end of the frame as E.A.C. tied the count and it was definitely cold for Leafs hopefuls in the second as E.A.C. stole the lead. Two quick goals, however, made those who had again late in the second frame and Leafs went out in front.

MISS ON CHANCES But rugged Ken Redden swooped down on the Leaf game in the third frame for E.A.C.'s equalizer and some 20 more minutes of bitter hockey failed to produce goals. Many chances were offered both sides in the overtime as penalties brought on power plays but goalies on both sides turned in good performances.

E.A.C. was without the services of Bruce Mackay, a big rugged forward who is out with a bad leg injury. The Leafs also missed a starry winger in Alex Pringle who has been the spark recently in Leaf offensive.

E.A.C. produced a greatly revamped squad. Redden, who usually plays defence, was moved to pivot between Elmer Kreiler and Jack Simpson. While Redden turned in a fair performance, the rugged Kenneth has played better hockey on defence. The second line was also changed with Billy Maher on the wing and centred by Jack McGill and Doug LaLoe on the other flank. But neither team produced much hockey. Their passing only clicked at intervals while the return to form of Buck Rogers was a feature of the game. Newsome

Mrs. Belle Donnan Sets Brilliant Bowling Mark

MRS. BELLE DONNAN moved 'em down last night at the Recreation Bowling Alleys for the finest individual performance of any five pin bomber in action—man or woman—and is thought to have established a new Edmonton record by being the first woman to roll two games of over 300 in three regular league games on one night.

Mrs. Donnan had the high single game of the 844 in the 328 and the high triple of 328. Her first game was 328 and her second 307. She bowls for the Endorvans of the Commercial Ladies League. Her team took two out of three from the Alberta Bowling Club.

Henry Baron of the Norwood Table Supply set a new triple mark for the 10 pin trinders of the senior section of the Recreation League to shoot at when he rolled games of 218, 227 and 222 last night in a league record.

The previous triple mark was 615 held by Perkins of the Central Bowling Club. The Koick turned in a fine performance in the Commercial 10 pin league when he rolled the high single of 246 and the high three of 677.

The Northwestern Manufacturing team won the championship of the first half of the 7 m. section of the Recreation 10 pin League with two straight victories over the Blue Spot squad by margins of 40 and 29 pins.

In the regular second half scheduled games of this league, 891 Carlson had the best single game last night with a 300. Weston rolled the high triple of 613.
